DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-22, 27-37 and 47-52, drawn to apparatus with probe body, membrane, channel between probe body and membrane with width being at least 5 times greater than its depth, inlet port, outlet port, classified in class 73, subclass 864.81.
- II. Claims 23-26, 38-46 and 54-58, drawn to apparatus with probe body, stem, channel formed along stem, membrane, classified in class 73, subclass 863.23.
- III. Claims 59-61, drawn to method passing collector fluid to an analyzer for analysis for determination of the measured concentration of the component of interest and adjusting the collector fluid flow rate to bring the concentration into the selected concentration range, classified in class 73, subclass 61.41.

Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination does not require channel formed along stem. The subcombination has separate utility such as a probe used simply for sampling rather than analysis of concentration.

Inventions III and I/II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the apparatus may be used simply for sampling rather than analysis of concentration.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
